Building our Saskatchewan: SUMA Looks Forward to Partnerships Fostering Growth

The Saskatchewan Urban Municipalities Association (SUMA) is pleased by the partnership opportunities available in today's release of the "Saskatchewan Plan for Growth."

"We are pleased to hear the Premier acknowledge the key role cities, towns and villages play to a growing Saskatchewan," said SUMA President Allan Earle. "The Saskatchewan Plan for Growth lays out the framework for future growth, and it's a great strategy. We are excited to partner with the provincial government to determine the specifics of how we accomplish this plan."

"The Premier laid out infrastructure as a top priority, and that's good news for urban governments. SUMA and our members will be active partners as we work toward long-term infrastructure funding. That funding will ensure we can build the cities, towns and villages that will attract the people, and build the economy it takes to reach the government's goals by 2020."
